

Terrapins are turtles that live only in salt water. They are found in quiet waters of bays and estuaries. Like all terrapins, the diamond-backed terrapin feeds underwater. It eats snails, clams, worms and water plants. This turtle was once hunted to near extinction for its meat and eggs.